

Dear Partners and Colleagues,

We are glad to inform you that the International Doctoral School of the Medical University of Lodz (IDS-MUL) has commenced recruitment.

IDS - MUL invites graduates of all nationalities.

All recruitment procedures are free of charge and are conducted in English.

All details can be found at

→ doctoralschool.umed.pl

IDS-MUL offers a PhD programme in three disciplines within the medical and health sciences: Pharmacology and Pharmacy, Medical Sciences and Health Sciences. All courses are taught in English.

The updated scientific programme includes an individualized research project under the supervision of top university researchers with access to modern laboratories and facilities, cutting-edge knowledge delivered through elective courses, soft and transferrable skills courses and lectures from visiting professors. This academic programme is enriched with a range of entertainments and sports, and the academic staff is available to advise and support the students when writing and defending doctoral theses.

The IDS-MUL PhD course is free of charge for all participants who successfully pass the entry exams. Moreover, the IDS-MUL programme includes a doctoral scholarship for four years and a higher doctoral scholarship for outstanding postgraduate students based on annual achievements. They will also be given provided to IT and library resources (e-library) and an ID Card as a doctoral student. Accommodation is available at a wide selection of commercial accommodation, as well as at the halls of residence of the Medical University of Lodz itself. Also, students living distant from their relatives are entitled to claim extra living allowance.

We welcome all young people with a passion for study and who want to cross borders.
